ANOTHER ELECTION.

Another election of great importance to the city is ordered to be held Saturday, Sept. 12th, to determine whether or not an additional annual tax of fifteen cents on the $100 valuation of all city property subject to taxation is to be collected for school purposes.

It is a most important election from the fact that the future welfare of our schools depends on the result.

THE HERALD favors this tax, because it deems it necessary. This special school fund is received and disbursed by the school board, and this board deems the tax necessary.

Well-managed, thorough, up-to-date schools are essential to a town's growth and prosperity. Such schools we have been blessed with, but now they have reached that point in their growth when they must have additional help. The state law has lowered the scholastic age, and this has brought a material increase. New buildings are needed, and a term is desired. These things can only come by taxation.

AT NACOGDOCHES.

At Nacogdoches and in Nacogdoches county was held a prohibition election the same day of the Anderson county election. The result was 2600 votes cast in the city and county. 1185 of these were cast for prohibition and 435 against prohibition. The antis say they will not contest but they will, for they always do.

Old Nacogdoches is a grand old county.

And, too, be it recorded, that Nacogdoches is outstripping all East Texas towns in point of growth. There has just been secured for that town a big mill enterprise employing 1500 people, and which will bring to the town an increased population of 3000.

How the tastes and opinions of people differ on the prohibition question!

THE Houston Chronicle, under the head of The Great American Graft, says in part:

All of this rottenness in business and politics must stop. The American people are an honest people. We hear so much of the few hundreds who are dishonest and nothing of the many millions who are honest. Our preachers and teachers must reinforce the express and implied teaching of every newspaper that not only will murder out, but dishonesty and wrong-doing of every sort. There is a moral law. It does not wait for the next world, but acts in this world as surely and certainly as the law of gravitation. No man can escape it. It is omnipresent and irresistible like any other law of nature. The offender in committing the offense sets it in motion. It gathers force as it moves. Every wrong-doer by his offense spins the first thread of the web of his detection and punishment. The uncontrollable sequence of events spins the rest of the web and the threads are of steel which cannot be broken.

Let us, therefore, cease smiling at sickness in business and politics. Let us cease grinning at graft, for the end of the grafter, as the end of any other transgressor, is hard.

EVEN today, with all the object lessons they have had, there are merchants who do not know that advertising pays. Of course they are those who have never given advertising a fair trial, but if they had kept their eyes open they would have learned the truth from the experience of others. Take the history of Montgomery, Ward & Co. for instance. This firm does not sell a nickel's worth of goods in Chicago, its home town, and it cannot possibly have any other means of reaching the people except through advertising. But through advertising it can sell goods right here in Terrell for more money than the local merchant gets for the same goods. Scores of merchants assert, and truthfully, that they can sell goods better here in Terrell than they can in Chicago.

THE trouble they do not make the proper effort to put the fact before the people in a convincing manner.—Terrell Transcript.

WHEN W. S. Taylor, fugitive from justice from Kentucky for the murder of Wm. Goebel, whose position as governor he had usurped, when he heard the news that his co-assassin, Caleb Powers, had been convicted and given the death penalty, declared that the news affected him very much. If Gov. Durbin of Indiana, who is a friend and protector of murderers, had any respect for the law or regard for his oath of office and had honored the requisition of Gov. Beckham, Taylor would be much more deeply affected than he was when he read the news of Powers' fate.—Paris News.

READING reports from East Texas, it is observed that farmers there have thrown away carloads of watermelons because the price was poor. Press dispatches from Georgia say that a Georgia watermelon producer, failing to get a price for his melons sufficiently large to warrant picking and selling them, he took the "meat" and manufactured a syrup of very fine quality which he sold for $1 a gallon. He made preserves of the rind and sold them at a fancy figure, realizing a dollar apiece for large melons. There is a lesson in this that might well be applied to Texas.—Denison Herald.

The pros say they are going to make the fight over again. They will know better how to fight next time.

REDUCED RATES ACCOUNT OF NATIONAL IRRIGATION CONGRESS AT OGDEN, UTAH.

Announcement is made by "The Denver Road" that on September 12, 13 and 14 round trip tickets will be on sale to Ogden and Salt Lake City, Utah, at rate of one fare; such tickets to be good for return as late as October 18, and to be good for stop-overs in both directions at points west of and including Trinidad, Pueblo, Colorado Springs, Denver and Cheyenne. Tickets will be of ironclad, signature form, requiring execution at destination for the return passage, for which execution a fee of 25 cents will be charged.

Brought Tennesseans

N. R. Tisdal, immigration agent of the Cotton Belt, returned yesterday from a trip to Tennessee, where he went to talk Texas and especially that portion of Texas traversed by the Cotton Belt. That he was successful is evidenced by the fact that he brought fifteen citizens of Tennessee back with him to Texas. These Tennesseans came to this state for the purpose of investigating conditions with a view of locating here. They stated that if they found matters as represented by Mr. Tisdal they would locate in this state. Some of those who came from Tennessee with Mr. Tisdal went to East Texas with the especial view of investigating the fruit raising industry. A few of them came to Fort Worth and some of them will pay a visit to the Panhandle. While Mr. Tisdal, of course, worked especially to induce immigrants to settle along the line of the Cotton Belt, he pulled and he pulled hard for all sections of the state. He reports there is a strong probability of a large number of Tennesseans moving to Texas this fall and that the "Tex-as fever" is real rampant in the land where he visited.—Fort Worth Register.

BUT there are things more important now than discussing election results. Let's all get down to work for Palestine.

You May Be Cured

544 Garfield Avenue,
Chicago, Ill., October 9, 1902.

After doctoring for eleven months and taking forty-three bottles of medicine and finding no relief for leucorrhoea resulting from irritation of a fallen womb I took Wine of Cardui and fourteen bottles cured me. This seems strange but it is the simple truth. Wine of Cardui helped me from the time I began taking it and having heard it praised so highly by friends who had tried it I felt satisfied that it would help me, and it did. It cured me. Took every bit of ache, pain and headache, cramps and dragging down sensations away till I felt young, strong and happy once more. It is a wonderful medicine and a true friend to women. When I look back on the months of torture I had it seems like a hideous nightmare. Wine of Cardui will cure any woman I believe. I have more faith in it than all other medicines combined.

Francis Kingsley
Vice-Pres., Chicago Historical Club.

How can you refuse relief when you know you are growing worse day after day? Shooting pains, irregularity, inflammation and bearing down pains make thousands of women miserable. Why drag through life never enjoying anything? Wine of Cardui has made over 1,500,000 weak and suffering women well and strong. We ask you to go to your druggist today and secure a $1.00 bottle of Wine of Cardui and begin to take it at once. Do that and the health Mrs. Kingsley writes about will soon be yours. If you think special directions are needed in your case, address, giving symptoms, Ladies' Advisory Department, The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.
